Shooting the beast

My favourite experience in the wild. A friend Sanath and I were driving back from Daroji Bear Sanctuary towards Hampi. It was about 7 pm. We were passing through villages and paddy fields. All of a sudden we saw a leopard trying to cross the road from the paddy fields. It was dark and there was just the light of the car, but I managed to get a few shots. The leopard kept moving through the fields in the dark and it was close to impossible to sight him from time to time. All the effort paid up when the leopard decided to relax for a bit and pose.

This really was a special moment, given that its rare to see a leopard in these areas and even rarer to photograph one - close to a dream to photograph a beast in the night.
